

trails

Teaching Resources and Innovations Library for Sociology

TRAILS is an innovative online peer-reviewed library of high-quality sociology teaching resources, including syllabi, class activities, assignments, lectures and more. Free to ASA members!

CALL FOR SUBMISSIONS:

TRAILS seeks resources that support teaching transgender, nonbinary, and intersex studies, intersectionality, embodiment, activism and trans justice, and other related topics. Publication criteria and submission guidelines available on the TRAILS site.

With TRAILS, you can find effective teaching resources and also:

GET IDEAS for new classes, new topics, new activities...

PUBLISH your own teaching innovations and develop evidence of teaching excellence for promotion and tenure

INSPIRE others to create new teaching techniques

SUPPORT high quality teaching and learning in sociology by citing teaching innovations

JOIN a network of sociologists who are passionate about teaching

Visit <http://trails.asanet.org> for inspirational ideas or to publish in TRAILS.